

The Daily Gazette

Office of publication—Second street, between Houston and Throckmorton. Entered at the Post-office as second-class matter.

SUNDAY MORNING DECEMBER 9

TIME TABLE.

MISSOURI PACIFIC		Leave
North bound	8:15 a. m.	8:25 p. m.
South bound	8:15 a. m.	8:25 p. m.
TEXAS AND PACIFIC		Leave
East bound	8:15 a. m.	8:25 p. m.
West bound	8:15 a. m.	8:25 p. m.
GULF, COLORADO AND SANTA FE		Leave
North bound	8:15 a. m.	8:25 p. m.
South bound	8:15 a. m.	8:25 p. m.

At average actual enrollment, attendance and tardiness of the city public schools of Fort Worth, for the week ending Friday, December 7, 1923.

SWEET ANNIE BOYLE.

A Genuine Southern Girl with a Black Mammy Attachment.

(Nashville World.)

Yesterday a World reporter called on Miss Anna Boyle, the leading lady in Mr. Frederic Ward's company, and learned from her many points in her history. Miss Boyle is a very bright and agreeable lady, and her pleasant manner and chatty conversation wins one at the outset.

"How many visits have you made South, and how do you like the Southern people generally?" asked the reporter.

"This is my third tour through the South, and each succeeding one doubly endears its noble, generous and hospitable people to me. My parents are English, but I am a native of Washington City, and was reared in a circle which possessed many of the Southern characteristics and prejudices. I may say, and I had, in addition to all these influences, an old black mammy for my nurse, so you can see at a moment's notice that I grew up to be a genuine Southern girl. I so much admire the true Southern character, but I fear very much that by the constant influx into the South of Northern people and by continued association with them and their more energetic and calculating ways, so to speak, the good, big hearted people of the South may in time lose many of their excellent characteristics. I hope not, however."

"You were with your mother when you were here before?"

"Yes, and I often wish that she could be with me now, for her presence was very comforting, you know, but this time I had to come alone. However, I find almost at every place acquaintances and friends that I have made, and they are always glad to me, so that my loneliness is relieved somewhat."

"In your list of characters which is your favorite?"

"There are several that I am partial to, but I think Portia, in the Merchant of Venice, is my favorite, and I regret that we do not play that here. I like also Pericles, in Ingomar. That is one of my best pieces because there is more action."

"But you are excellent in Virginia."

"Do you know Virginia is rather a difficult character to personate? Well, it is because of the lack of much stage action. Virginia is a part to be well played must be played but little. It requires very great effort, I can tell you, not to put too much action into it."

"Which do you prefer, comedy or tragedy?"

"Tragedy, heavy tragedy. One of my desires is to excel in that branch of the profession."

"Do you not intend to 'star' it" some time?"

"Well, that, you know, is the ambition of all the profession who have any ambition at all, and I am ambitious enough to look forward to the time when I can be a star. I am too young, however, and my friends tell me that some years hence will be soon enough for me to think of that. In the meantime, by intense study, I hope to prepare myself so that when I do start out I shall be fitted for the task."

"You will make Nashville in your route then?"

"Most certainly; I have found so many generous friends here that I could not ignore them. I assure you I shall leave Nashville with pleasant memories, and look forward with real pleasure to the time that brings me back again."

Mr. W. D. Hicks, Ennis, Texas, says: "Brown's Iron Bitters has proved the health of both my wife and myself."

Ball Tossers.
The National base ball club of this city left on the east-bound train last night to play a match game with the Brown Stockings of Dallas at that city today. The Nationals have strengthened their nine and hope to be successful in their game this afternoon. It is understood, in base ball circles, that an organization will be formed in this city soon, with a capital stock of five hundred shares, for the purpose of securing a first-class nine here for next season. The organization, if it be completed, will give a base ball tournament in this city next November and endeavor to form a Texas association, in which nine representing the leading cities in the state will enter, and a regular season of games be played for the state championship. Scott and Geise, who play with the Detroit club next season, and who are now playing with the Fort Worth club, will return next season and Scott will captain the nine. As the season in the East ends before the season in Texas begins, some of the finest ball players in the country would come South to play. Base ball seems to be flourishing in Texas as well as horse racing and other sports.

Family Cafe.
Sample rooms for commercial men. Table supplied with all the market affords. Everything first class. Cor. 3d and Houston.

Mr. W. V. Lloyd, Hamilton, Texas, says: "I used Brown's Iron Bitters with great benefit for indigestion and loss of appetite."

Ask for Our Gem flour, made at the Anchor Mills.

Dr. Matthews having bought the Wright drug store and fitted it nicely and having a good prescription clerk is prepared to fill orders night and day. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

Mr. J. H. Pritchard, Hamilton, Tex., says: "I have used Brown's Iron Bitters in nervousness and general debility with great benefit."

THE COURTS.

DISTRICT COURT.

In the district court yesterday, the jury in the case of L. W. Crawford vs. the city of Fort Worth, which has occupied the attention of the court since last Wednesday, returned a verdict for plaintiff for $1,533.

The case of W. L. Dorsey vs. the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe railway company, for $6,000 damages for injuries done to plaintiff's son while working as brakeman for said company, was on trial when court adjourned until Monday morning.

COUNTY COURT.

Nothing was done in the county court yesterday, the probate docket having been finished the day before.

The civil jury docket will be taken up Monday morning and continued through the week.

Weekly Statement

Of average actual enrollment, attendance and tardiness of the city public schools of Fort Worth, for the week ending Friday, December 7, 1923.

Buildings.	No. Teachers.	Enrollment.	Absent.	Tardy.	Per cent. Attendance.	Per cent. Tardy.
Walden	1	84	1	1	98.8	1.2
No. 1	1	84	1	1	98.8	1.2
No. 2	1	84	1	1	98.8	1.2
No. 3	1	84	1	1	98.8	1.2
No. 4	1	84	1	1	98.8	1.2
No. 5	1	84	1	1	98.8	1.2
Total	5	420	5	5	98.8	1.2

Add one hundred pupils for those below to take after another building vacant this week. In room No. 2, building No. 1, there was not a single tardy during the week.

On Monday, the 10th, the second ward building (No. 2), the colored school building (No. 7), and the building (No. 8), near bank's school, will all be completed. Parents are requested to send in their children, particularly those who have been tardy.

These buildings will seat 1,400 pupils, 1,200 whites and 200 colored children. Transferring will be necessary to equalize the labor of the teachers, but it will be judiciously done.

Agreeable Surprise.

The hearts of two of Fort Worth's families were much happier the past week by Linderman's famed pianos. They were daisies and were sold by H. N. Conner & Co., who have also just received, in time for the holidays, another one of these celebrated cycloids, an instrument beyond compare in tone and finish, and for a Christmas present there is nothing in all Fort Worth to equal it.

Mr. R. P. Rice, Hamilton, says: "My 15-year-old son, Brown's Iron Bitters with satisfaction. It has improved her appetite and strength."

Our Schools.

Considering the superiority of instruction and the money saved by not being compelled to exchange books at a considerable loss, New Tidy said that the business college offers more advantages and costs less than any school in the city. Boys are not dismissed until 4 o'clock and do not have three or four hours to lounge around the streets when they ought to be studying.

Mr. A. J. Bicknell of Ennis, Texas, says: "Before taking Brown's Iron Bitters I was sickly man. Now I am well and hearty."

Housekeepers and Consumers.
Will save money by buying Wesley's soaps, which are sold by all grocers. Among their celebrated brands are the "Linen," "White Velvet," "German Family," "English Blue," "Old English," "Gold Medal," "3-pound Bar," "4-pound Bar," "6-pound Bar," "8-pound Bar," "10-pound Bar," "12-pound Bar," "14-pound Bar," "16-pound Bar," "18-pound Bar," "20-pound Bar," "22-pound Bar," "24-pound Bar," "26-pound Bar," "28-pound Bar," "30-pound Bar," "32-pound Bar," "34-pound Bar," "36-pound Bar," "38-pound Bar," "40-pound Bar," "42-pound Bar," "44-pound Bar," "46-pound Bar," "48-pound Bar," "50-pound Bar," "52-pound Bar," "54-pound Bar," "56-pound Bar," "58-pound Bar," "60-pound Bar," "62-pound Bar," "64-pound Bar," "66-pound Bar," "68-pound Bar," "70-pound Bar," "72-pound Bar," "74-pound Bar," "76-pound Bar," "78-pound Bar," "80-pound Bar," "82-pound Bar," "84-pound Bar," "86-pound Bar," "88-pound Bar," "90-pound Bar," "92-pound Bar," "94-pound Bar," "96-pound Bar," "98-pound Bar," "100-pound Bar."

Mr. S. L. Cary of Ennis, Texas, says: "Brown's Iron Bitters permanently cured me of dyspepsia."

Mares for Sale.
Forty picked Texas mares, full average 14 hands high, good colors, all young. Bred to a fine imported stallion. 15 hands and one inch high. For sale at $50 round. Buyer must take all.

Mr. J. M. Blausit, Hamilton, Texas, says: "I have taken Brown's Iron Bitters for indigestion with very beneficial results."

Henry & Peak call attention to their new advertisement and cordially invite all to call and examine their elegant stock of hardware and cutlery in their spacious sales-rooms on Houston street, corner of Fifth.

Persons indebted to the late firm of Henry & Sandilands & Co. have a week to pay "make prompt settlement."

Mr. Y. L. Skinner, Mt. Calm, says: "I have taken Brown's Iron Bitters for indigestion and I was cured within three days."

Did You Ever Notice
How hard it is to make up your mind about what sort of a Christmas present you ought to make, and, as the holidays are fast approaching, this subject becomes more and more interesting. Randall & Chambers Co. have an immense stock of suitable goods for holiday presents, and you should not fail to see their elegant stock of wraps, for the reductions they have made in these goods will interest you.

Newest and Best Styles
Of wall paper at O. K. paint shop.

Use Cyclone flour.
COMBS, READ & Co.

J. M. Robbins
Has received a large amount of new wall paper at O. K. paint shop.

One pound of fine Japan tea and a decorated china cup and saucer, all for 75c.
COMBS, READ & Co.

J. M. Robbins
Has the finest stock of fine wall paper and decorations in Fort Worth, Texas, and, if you doubt it, call and see for yourself.

Fruit cake and all the necessary dainties that go to make it up can be found at Combs, Read & Co's.

Romulus N. Graham is out with spring samples of clothing from Edw. Bates & Co., New York.

For fine goods in the line of holiday gifts, go to Conner's. Nothing inferior, no high prices; only one price, and that the lowest.

Pickled pigs-feet, tongue, tripe, etc. ISENHOWER & Bro's.

Go to Conner's and see their Ideal Crenona piano—only twelve dollars.

THE ART OF HAPPINESS.

Elysium Possible for Every Man That Will Learn and Labor.

The "Art of Being Happy" is the theme that Dr. Richardson, the learned mental student, recently handled in a masterly manner before the Sunday congress in London. There were many theories and corollaries introduced by the lecturer in the course of his hour's discussion, but the thread of it hung on the main proposition that to be virtuous after the manner of the ancients is to be happy. He is sanguine enough to believe that we may multiply the sum of human felicity just as the sanitation has decreased the death rate.

Certainly only dyspeptic people will deny that there is such a thing as mental happiness. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

Must catch from the fleeting moments of such a day's dear light. As a humble whirler of the pencil stood there last night with uncovered head, before the grand display he had been called in to witness, there came into his soul the thought of Willis, that code was to be happy. It is the vibrations of everyday existence that shorten life, and its pleasures that prolong. If, as the poet says, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," then he who lingers for awhile in the Elser

PERSONAL.

S. S. Swift of Baird is at the Clark house.

Col. C. W. Styles of Brenham is visiting the city.

C. L. Harris of Indiana is at the Clark house.

John Sanders of Decatur is stopping at the Lindell.

Mr. C. W. Fields, a hotel-keeper at Toyah, is in the city.

D. R. Anthony of Denison was at the Lindell yesterday.

G. T. Knott of Wichita Falls is registered at the Lindell.

E. L. Harris of the Missouri Pacific railway is at the Clark house.

E. L. Rucker of Croton Creek is registered at the Clark house.

Dr. J. R. Pillard of Galesburg, Ill., was at the Lindell yesterday.

Mr. Wm. R. Sneed, representing the Sneed & Co. iron works of Louisville, Ky., is in the city.

Mr. R. M. Leech, general agent and solicitor for the Livermore oundry and Machine company, of Memphis, was in the city yesterday.

J. J. Ligon of Palestine is in town. He contemplates locating in the Fort, and his numerous friends here will welcome him and his family.

Mr. W. G. Smoot, who has charge of the freight department of the eastern extension of the C. & O. Ry. at Newport News, Va., is visiting his brother, City Engineer E. K. Smoot, in this city.

Col. Harvey W. Salmon of Clinton, Mo., paid the GAZETTE a hurried but pleasant visit yesterday. Col. Salmon is largely interested in Texas, financially, and his old friends about the GAZETTE office wish there were lots more like him becoming Texanized.

Rev. C. E. Giddings is in the city today, en route to Decatur, where he is stationed as pastor of the M. E. Church for the current conference year. His new congregation will soon appreciate and love him for his cheerful disposition, and his zeal in the holy work to which his life is devoted.

Our Austin correspondent mentions the fact that Major S. B. Haggart of this place, the well-known architect of the Texas & Pacific railway, has been prominently mentioned for the supervising architect of the new capital building. While we should be glad to see the major in a position where his large experience and skill could be of service to the state, still we trust that he may decide to remain in Fort Worth, and help to make it the handsomest and best built city in Texas.

Arrested for Robbery.
Friday night the hotel at Alvarado was entered and robbed. One of the two parties engaged in the job was arrested and judged. Yesterday a young man named Carroll living at Alvarado was stopping at the Plaza hotel, and by a remark that attracted his attention to the speaker, whom he recognized as a man he had seen with the party arrested at Alvarado. He informed officer Scott, who, accompanied by officer Foster, arrested the party. Telephonic communication established the fact that the arrested man was the man wanted, as he had been given dead away by the party arrested at Alvarado. The arrested man gives his name as James Jones, and knows nothing about Alvarado. If he may be believed, he will be taken to Alvarado today.

THIRD AND FOURTH WARDS.
Thomas Brennon, the conductor who ran the first passenger train into Fort Worth on the Texas and Pacific road, is in the city.

An indication of the fruits of the arborium and newspaper criticism is the fact that in the express offices at the Union depot every night can be seen bunches and bundles of young trees coming in the city.

Wm. Foley, formerly master mechanic of the Texas Pacific road, is in the city.

W. H. Reilly, the genial master mechanic of the Santa Fe, will spend today with his family.

Gordon Walker, formerly check clerk at the Texas & Pacific warehouse, has accepted a lucrative position in the claims department.

The many friends of Will Ryan will be glad to learn that he has recovered from his spell of typhoid fever and is back at his old post with C. B. Daggett.

It is whispered that the merchant princes of the Fourth ward is making arrangements to swap his single-breasted bed for one of larger dimensions and will use the reduction of silver light of the luncheon room.

The officials at the Union depot say that the account of two robbers which appeared in yesterday's GAZETTE, copied from the Cleburne Chronicle and Weatherford Sun, is not to them. No complaint was made to them of any party or parties losing such sums of money. It would be difficult to find a better officer than Special Policeman Richmond, and it seems strange that no complaint was made at the time the alleged robberies took place.